St Clair Square — Yonge & St. Clair, Midtown Toronto

Draft for internal review · 6 July 2026

Each fact below is written to stand on its own — catchment, timeframe and meaning included — and is ready to lift into any marketing document. Small bracketed references trace each fact to its evidence while this sheet is in draft. Held back by standing rules: all pricing, anchor-tenant conversations, unconfirmed venue names, and the cultural centre's name.

The scheme at a glance

What is being built on the full city block bounded by Yonge, St. Clair, Heath and Alvin.

- More than 1.5 million square feet of new construction. One of midtown Toronto's largest city-building projects, on a single full block directly above St Clair subway station. [site plan, Jul 2026]
- Over 770,000 square feet of new residences. Residential space makes up 71% of the new construction — homes are the heart of the block. [site plan, Jul 2026]
- An 80,000 square foot health and wellness club. High-end but family-friendly by design — wellness for the whole neighbourhood, not a niche. [site plan, Jul 2026; P-0012]
- More than half the site — 52.3% — is open space. Plazas, landscape, rooftop terraces and green roofs; over 80,000 square feet of public and green space in all. [site plan, Jul 2026]
- Minutes from the ravine. Yellow Creek, the Beltline Trail and the Mount Pleasant arboretum are a short walk away — nature is part of daily life. [site plan, Jul 2026]
- Three residential towers: The Hyland, The Alvin and The Heath. The Hyland (50 storeys, 185 m) is luxury rental with a members' club at its crown; The Alvin (38 storeys, 137 m) and The Heath (25 storeys, 102 m) are for-sale condominiums. [A-0363–A-0376, A-0007]
- A 74,000+ square foot village street of new retail. New-format retail at the base of the block — a street, not a mall — alongside the reimagined existing retail at 2 & 22 St. Clair. [site plan, Jul 2026; A-0004]
- A purpose-built cultural centre of 78,000+ square feet. A new home for culture anchoring the block's north-west corner at Yonge and Heath, reaching south to Delisle. [A-0005, P-0009]
- Directly on top of St Clair subway station. Multiple station entrances are built into the block itself — the subway is the front door. [A-1891 family]

A neighbourhood of rare wealth

The catchment around the block is one of Canada's most established wealth corridors. Each figure names its own catchment.

- Average household net worth of $2.76 million. Households in the immediate Yonge & St Clair neighbourhood hold net worth at more than twice the Toronto average. [A-0002]
- Average household income of $189,666. The immediate neighbourhood earns 29% above the Toronto average — and that is the block's most conservative catchment measure. [A-0001]
- Incomes projected to reach $226,583 within five years. The immediate neighbourhood's average household income is forecast to keep compounding. [A-1062]
- Within one kilometre, average household income reaches $262,112. The wider walking-distance catchment is wealthier still (2022 figure). [A-0725]
- One in four nearby households earns over $300,000. 24.1% of the population within one kilometre lives in households above $300,000 (2022). [A-0736]
- Average disposable income of $124,428 per household. Immediate-neighbourhood households have 14% more to spend than the average Torontonians after essentials. [A-1370]
- Two in three neighbours hold a university degree. 64.7% of the population within one kilometre has a bachelor's degree or higher (2022) — an educated, culturally engaged audience. [A-0730]
- 29,000 people live within a kilometre; 263,000 within three. A dense, established residential base surrounds the block on every side (2022). [A-0722, A-0724]

A place people return to Footfall at Yonge & St Clair is habitual — the block is part of daily life.

- 29.4 million visits in a single year. The immediate area recorded 29.4 million visits in 2025 from 1.1 million unique visitors. [A-1379, A-1378]
- 2.5 million visits every month, all year round. Monthly visits ranged only from 2.2 to 2.9 million across 2025 — steady in every season. [A-1162, A-1381]
- The evening commute is the golden hour. 3pm–6pm is the busiest daypart with 20% of all visits — 5.9 million a year passing at prime retail time. [A-1168]
- Visiting households earn $138,000 on average. The people who come to Yonge & St Clair bring real spending power with them. [A-1384]
- Visitors come back 27 times a year. That repeat rate marks Yonge & St Clair as a daily-use urban node, not an occasional destination. [A-1380]
- Three-quarters of visits happen on weekdays. This is a working, living neighbourhood — footfall doesn't wait for the weekend. [A-1163]
- Visitors look like the neighbours. Roughly 70% of visits come from households with profiles similar to local residents — the area draws its own kind. [A-1391]

A daytime economy three times its size

The block serves far more people by day than live beside it.

- A daytime population of 16,460 — three times the resident base. Offices, services and institutions triple the immediate neighbourhood's population every working day. [A-1098]
- $259 million of consumer spending a year, in the trade area alone. The immediate catchment's households spend over a quarter-billion dollars annually before a single visitor is counted. [A-1129]

People are choosing it — and paying to

The newest arrivals are wealthier than the neighbourhood they join.

- New arrivals earn 38% more than the neighbours they join. Households moving into the immediate area average $262,312 in income — the neighbourhood is trading up with every move-in. [A-1393]
- They out-visit every affluent node around. Among Canada's wealthiest households, visitation to Yonge & St Clair over-indexes against every surrounding affluent neighbourhood, including Yorkville. [A-1423]
- Canada's wealthiest households are gathering here. The country's single wealthiest household segment makes 2.7 million visits a year to Yonge & St Clair — 9% of all visits from under 3% of Toronto's households. [A-1204, A-1424]

An audience that pays for quality

Spending behaviour in the catchment rewards exactly what the block will offer.

- Culture is a habit here, not an event. Nearly one in four neighbourhood households attends ballet, opera or symphony — 2.5 times the Toronto rate; almost half attend major theatre. [A-1111, A-1112]
- Fine food over-indexes 2.5 times. Neighbourhood households shop fine food stores and butchers at 2.5 times the Toronto rate — an audience for a considered grocery hall and specialty retail. [A-1120]
- A dining-out neighbourhood. Over half of local households dine at full-service restaurants, and spending at bars and pubs runs 49% above the city average. [A-1122, A-1373]
- Quality is non-negotiable. Residents actively care about brand quality and are demonstrably willing to pay a premium for it. [A-1408]
- Canada's wealthiest households spend three times the city average. $266,473 per household per year — with wellness spending up to five times, travel four times, and education five times the Toronto norm. [A-1409, A-1421, A-1418, A-1414]

Connected, walkable, already car-free

The neighbourhood's travel habits were made for a transit-anchored block.

- Four in five peak trips are already car-free. Only 20% of residents' peak-period trips are made as car drivers — transit, walking and cycling carry the rest. [A-1891]
- Walking to the shops is up 29 points. Between 2016 and 2022 the share of local retail trips made on foot rose 29 percentage points — car reliance for shopping has been collapsing for two decades. [A-1904, A-1595]

- A city that arrives by every door. Toronto welcomed 9 million overnight visitors in 2024 who spent a record $8.8 billion — and midtown's front porch is one subway ride from all of it. [A-2282]

A neighbourhood investing in itself

The corridor is growing — and St Clair Square leads it.

- Population within a kilometre is growing 11% by 2027. From 29,000 today toward 32,200 — with average income projected to reach $312,588 (2022 baseline projections). [A-0734, A-0737, A-0740]
- Over 10,000 new homes are queued within a kilometre. Thirty-six developments were in pre-construction in the surrounding kilometre at last inventory — the corridor's confidence is measurable. [A-0764, A-0765]
